

KYLE L. WU

New York, NY 10032
Kyle.wu@scltutors.com

EDUCATION

Columbia University, College of Physicians & Surgeons

Doctorate of Medicine degree (Will apply for MD/MBA dual degree in 2007)

New York, NY

May 2009

The Johns Hopkins University

BS in Biomedical Engineering (Electrical Engineering Concentration)

Minor: Entrepreneurship and Management

MCAT: 39R (99.5 percentile)

Cumulative GPA: 3.82 / 4.00

GMAT: 750 (99th percentile)

Baltimore, MD

May 2005

SKILLS

- Excellent quantitative/analytical skills
- Financial / Economic literacy
- Expertise with Microsoft Office suites and Macros programming with VBA IDE
- Experience in algorithm programming for management decision optimization
- Proficient in Matlab programming and simulation
- Fluent in Mandarin (native) and Japanese (conversational)

RELEVANT COURSES

- Financial/Managerial Accounting
- Human Resources Management
- Corporate Finance / Financial&Foreign Ex Market
- Economics of Strategy
- Micro / Macro / Healthcare Economics
- International Monetary Economics / Game Theory
- Mathematical Models / Probability & Statistics
- Monetary Analysis

EXPERIENCE

Chief Financial Officer, Senior Board Member 02/2006 – Present

Summa Cum Laude Corporation, New York, NY

- Oversee all monetary activities and establish financial infrastructures for a non-profit organization specializing in education and philanthropy.

Healthcare Management Intern 06/2005 – 08/2005

Dep. of Management Control, Taipei Veterans General Hospital, Taipei, Taiwan

- Initiated a project on space utilization, aiming to overturn a net annual loss of NT 3.8 million which arose from mismanagement of facility spaces. The recommended guidelines for revenue-generating alternatives have been submitted for review at the vice-superintendent's office.

Summer Project Analyst Intern 06/2004 – 08/2004

Dep. of Operations Integration, Johns Hopkins Health System, Baltimore, MD

- Partook in the University HealthSystem Consortium operational benchmarking project and managed the data collection process, data integrity, and the preliminary analysis—part of the quality initiative to identify opportunities for process reengineering to ultimately realize $4 Mil in cost savings.
- Received Certification of Appreciation – Outstanding Performance.

Private Client Group Intern 09/2003 – 12/2003

Legg Mason, Inc., Private Client Group, Baltimore, MD

- Constructed financial models and simulations with focus on Discretionary Cash Flow and EVA for analysis of various firms in an effort to assist senior analysts in meeting client demands.

Completed Projects

- “Collaborative Internal Competition Through Partial Divisional Overlap”—Team research paper.
- Biocervical Technology Corp., 2nd Place- Johns Hopkins Business Plan Competition

ACTIVITIES / AFFILIATIONS

- American Medical Association
- American Medical Student Association
- Columbia Medical Outreach – Finance Committee
- Undergraduate:
  - JHU Symphony Orchestra – violin
  - Johns Hopkins Varsity Men's Fencing